Flexibility of Pagemark Source Code

Pagemark makes it easy for OEM's to design, develop and deliver XPS based products. Our business model provides a one time source code licensing and unlimited product introductions without royalty payments.

Hardware Specific Optimization

Most rendering systems provide better performance when optimized for a specific CPU architecture. While Pagemark has provided optimizations for Intel MMX/SSE and Freescale PowerPC SPE instructions, Pagemark's code is modular and easily allows customers to further optimize inner loops for greater performance.

Proven Team - Tested Technology

Pagemark has been providing print technology to the digital imaging industry for over 15 years. The Pagemark team has built relationships with top tier printer OEM manufacturers and enterprise companies across the globe in guiding them towards developing and delivering successful products and solutions. Pagemark's key to success is aligning market and technology leadership with outstanding customer service in providing a total turn key solution.

Pagemark XPS Rendering solution has been extensively tested using the industry standard Quality Logic XPS test suites. Let Pagemark be your next XPS solution partner!
